FACE AND BODY CONTOURING

Facial thread lifting is a minimally invasive cosmetic facelift technique that can restore a younger appearance, in a similar way to a surgical facelift but without the need for surgery. The thread facelift uses specialised absorbable threads which are introduced into the skin using very fine needles to lift tissue and muscle and improve skin texture. The treatment is usually performed in one session lasting from 30 minutes to 1 hour using local anaesthetic with virtually no side effects, and normally only a few days needed for recovery.

Thread lifting is good for rejuvenating, regenerating and improving the structure of the face and neck. They treat wrinkles on the forehead, sagging brow lines, sagging eyebrows, lowered outer eyebrow ends, sagging cheeks, nasolabial lines (nose to mouth lines often referred to as smile or laughter lines) and marionette lines (mouth to chin lines that run straight downwards from the corners of the mouth to chin that can make you look unhappy). The thread lift is also good for skin furrows and wrinkles on the neck, sagging jowl lines and double chins.

A lifted appearance can be seen immediately following the treatment, however results will improve in the following days and weeks to come as the process of natural body protein synthesis begins. The overall texture of the skin continues to improve and it becomes tighter, thicker and firmer and fine lines and wrinkles are smoothed away. The threads are naturally absorbed by the body within six to eight months, however this method maintains the lift long after the threads have dissolved and you can expect to see results last for up to 18 to 24 months. It is possible to repeat the procedure before the original results disappear to maintain the facelift appearance.
